PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Release

Over 800 Exhibiting Companies At INMEX China

The definitive international maritime expo returns to China with exhibitors from over 20 countries showcasing extensive maritime products, services, and technology solutions.

GUANGZHOU, CHINA, November 25, 2016, Friday – INMEX China, the largest and most established international maritime expo in the South China Sea region, will return to Guangzhou on December 7 at the Poly World Trade Centre.

The expo, now in its 7th edition, will be a hotspot of the newest and most innovative maritime technology, products and services under one roof. It is the definitive event for visitors and participants to source for the latest maritime solutions, meet key industry decision-makers and experts, as well as build and strengthen business relationships with industry players.

This year, the expo will see more than 800 exhibiting companies from over 20 countries participating in the three-day event, including those from China, Germany, Holland, Hong Kong, Korea, Norway, Singapore, USA, and others.

A Variety Of Exhibitors And Conferences

The international exhibitors are from dozens of industries in the maritime sector, including ship building and repairs, interior suppliers, architects and designers, cargo handling systems, as well as electronics and electrical engineering.

Apart from the exhibition, also lined up in the three-day event are B2B meetings arranged through matching services, networking events, shipyard visits, and close to 40 high-powered seminars by industry expert speakers.

The free admission seminars (conducted in Mandarin) are on several topics, including Future Development of Ship Financial Leasing; Turning Crisis into Opportunities; Intelligent Manufacturing in Shipbuilding and Marine Engineering; Advanced Maritime Materials Application Development; Luxury Cruises Interior Design; Ship Development Trend and Market Outlook; as well as Green Shipbuilding Technology.

“A Very Important Gateway”

Mrs Marjan Lacet, Trade Promotion Manager of the Netherlands Maritime Technology and an exhibitor in INMEX China 2016, said: "We are very satisfied with the professionalism and quality of the INMEX China shows, and have been a loyal exhibitor since the inception of INMEX China in 2002. The Netherlands Maritime Technology (NMT) will be present again at this 7th edition in Guangzhou, and we look forward to more fruitful things to come at the expo."

Mr Erlend Prytz, CEO of the Norwegian Maritime Exporters, said: "The Norway Pavilion has been present at INMEX China since 2010. It has become a very important gateway for us to connect with the Asian maritime sector as well as international maritime professionals. We have nine Norwegian exhibitors in our national pavilion this year, and we are certain it will be a satisfying exhibition for them."

Growing Stronger

Mr Jack Wei, General Manager of Informa Global Exhibitions Asia and co-organiser of INMEX China 2016, said: "We see numerous returning local and international exhibitors this year, and it is through their unwavering support that we remain the leading and largest maritime expo in the South China region.

"Exhibitors, buyers and visitors can expect a spectrum of quality products, services and cutting-edge technology, insightful seminars, and professional B2B matching services. My team and I are proud to assist the companies to greater heights."

Mr Rick Zhang, Managing Director of AUCH and co-organiser of INMEX China 2016, also added: "Guangzhou remains a crucial port in China and the world, and with immense support coming from all industries in the maritime sector, including from government agencies, this year's show is one of the strongest we have ever held.

"We thank all of them for their support, and wish all exhibitors, buyers and visitors a very rewarding and enriching experience in INMEX China 2016."
